Penny,

One quick suggestion if you can pull it off. Leave the night before and grab a room. If there is any flow in the river, fishing it all day will wear you out. That would be too long of a day (I did it your way the last 2 years.... suicide steelhead run). Brenda's or Cannon's are 2 cheap places and are only 1/4 mile from the SR. Even if you got up above the PA /NY line. It would make things easier and there's some fairly heavy morning rush around Syarcuse that you'll want to miss.

I second that...I've done a few solo suicide runs and it can get scary on the way home. Too much caffiene and you can start seeing stuff
