

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Let's Start Steelhead Fever Re: Let's Start Steelhead Fever

Author: : Reefishd

Date: : 2012/9/14 13:59:19

URL:

Hey guys, new to the forum so feel free to move my post to a more suitable location if this thread doesn't suit... just moved to the east coast from San Diego and looking to get in the steelhead game this year... my question is, has anyone ever camped in the east otto state forest when visiting the catt? It seems fairly accessible and pretty close to river access... I see they have some primitive sites and from what i understand from the DEC website you can camp throughout most of the forest as long as you're a bit away from roads/water. I live in philly so would probably try to take a few days at a time to go up there. It'd be nice to do it on the cheap as much as possible, and for me, remote camping and fishing are where it's at... anyone have any experience? Thanks