
Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Berks county class a info

Re: Berks county class a info

Author: : The_Sasquatch

Date: : 2012/9/17 11:42:08

URL:

Quote:

gfen wrote:

Quote:

The_Sasquatch wrote:

So once a stream like this has been "outed", what do we do?

You don't do anything. Congratulations, you've learned a lesson.

How you choose to apply this knowledge in the future is entirely up to you.

My personal take is, I'll never name a stream unless its already been done. I just don't want to step on anybody's toes. I readily admit 80% of the streams I've fished in the past year or so I've learned about on here, mostly from PMs. In those instances, I would NEVER broadcast that stream on the public forum, unless its already been done. In this case, I found two instances in the last year where both pcray and jdaddy named this stream (in a thread about stocking class A's and another about kid rodeos), so I just figured, "it's done". They weren't the first to name the stream on here (its hardly in either one's nature to "out" a stream that can't handle the pressure), so I'm assuming their attitude was, "It's already been outed" as well. This is where I was coming from with my question. Once its been "outed", how do we handle it on the board? Do we just throw our hands up and say, "what's done is done. We can talk about X stream openly now"?