It rained at my place on Friday afternoon, and Erie likely got the same weather, only an hour or two later.

Front went through and it got colder and started raining in the afternoon about the time I finished up mowing at high speed. Rained pretty good for a little while (maybe a couple hours), but cleared up again in time for a very nice sunset.

To give you an idea the effect it had, it rained Friday, and my stream was dry on Sunday.

I haven't followed the gauges, so I can't help you with that.
