If you have info on enough streams (say several hundred), public viewing on a large scale wouldn't be a problem imo. There just aren't that many fishermen.

Can't say I disagree plus I think some streams would just turn most people off as not being their type of fishing. I really have to come to believe that the real problem is the lurkers who want to take fish and not the FF'ers who C&R. But what do I know. 😞
