

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : identify this fish

Re: identify this fish

Author: : FarmerDave

Date: : 2012/9/17 16:04:16

URL:

Definitely not a bluegill or a pumpkin seed.

Chaz, my autistic nephew could color better than whoever did those pictures for the PF&BC. Then again, the PF&BC could be "trying" to depict a female. The only thing that they got about right was the shape which you entirely missed. Also look at the mouth.

Google something other than PF&BC. No idea why their fish identification pages are so lame. Was it done by Walt Disney?

Most likely a male green sunfish, and green sunfish do have the spot at the base of the dorsal fin.