I have heard some decent numbers of fish are in the gorge area and showing themselves in the likely locations. Not surprising. There is no doubt the fish move up river in the summer until they find cooler water, especially the wild trout. They know where to go and how to survive. Unfortunatley you can only jam so many fish in those spots and then you have people hammering on them, which doesnt help either.

The Corps says around 1000 cfs for the weekend. I had plans on getting up there on Sunday, now it looks questionable.
