

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Lackawanna Slammer

Lackawanna Slammer

Author: : djs12354

Date: : 2012/9/20 19:42:16

URL:

It's been close to two weeks since I have been able to get out and wet a line.....Caught a cold two weeks ago and spent that weekend coughing my head off and trying to sleep. This past weekend was spent in Detroit, attending a wedding and getting to spend time with grand-kids.

Couldn't wait for this Saturday, so I decided to head for the Lack and see if I could at least wet a line and practice some casting. Talked my brother in to coming along. Didn't bother to suit up, just stuck to areas where I could fish from the bank and stay dry.

A few drifts with a Copper John and I had this beast slam the fly!

Attach file:

---

 09 20 12 Lackawanna Slammer.jpg (77.80 KB)

