

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : So a question for the rod builders...

Re: So a question for the rod builders...

Author: : DJBerg

Date: : 2012/9/21 7:45:07

URL:

After some thought, I'm actually thinking I'm going to leave that guide on the connecting spot. My thought is it will put a bit more load on the factory male part of the scientific anglers and hopefully take some of the stress out of the first section of the female end of the st croix.

Or am I just nuts?