The PFBC will be hosting a public meeting in Allegheny County on future issues in muskellunge management and is seeking public comment.

If you can't attend, you can email or mail your comments. I will certainly be sending my views. The agency has, in my opinion, become much more progressive and forward thinking with respect to muskies in recent years. However, raising and stocking muskies is very expensive and there may be a reduction in waters that receive them. If you're a muskie guy, I'd urge you keep abreast and participate in the debate and send your views to the PFBC.
