

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Medicine disposal

Re: Medicine disposal

Author: : springer1

Date: : 2012/9/23 13:04:10

URL:

Quote:

However, I think much of these new pollutants that have been discovered in large waterways (birth control, Prozac etc) are products of urine and can only be controlled at the sewage treatment phase.

No problem. I guess collections like this really wouldn't help with waterway pollutants & conservation.

Sounds like industry research is needed before implementing approaches at water treatment plants that are first proven to be more effective.