Shore catch for sure in nj but never leave out the option of going up to montauk. Nothing comes close to it. Bass, albies and big blues are there at the same time. Shore fishing for them is hard. They move so fast it's a matter of getting the fly in front of them. And they usually are not right on the beach. The key is finding the bait and they might be there. I haven't caught one on a fly rod yet but have on a spinning. It's nuts how fast they move. Besides from stripers it my favorite fish to catch in the ocean.
