Just a heads up...the guy that owns the land by the tunnel where everyone parks is talking about posting. People keep blocking the road back to his house and littering. He's not real happy either.

I think he's got a right to be pissed, they do park all kinds of crazy ways down there. I once parked in a legit spot but did not pull in far enough and was sticking out. He came by and very nicley asked me to pull up which I did without question. I think he is very reasonable and I'm not sure why guys wouldn't honor his one request.
