10 wt is the weight of choice but you can get away with an 8 on a nice day. Lamson has some nice reels and I have seen echo rods that look nice. Never tried one but they can take a lot from what I have seen.

IMO it is the best time of they year. You got blues albies and bass. But I am of the ideoloigy that you the most consistent bass action will be after the first full moon in October. From what I have seen this summer it gonna be a good run of peanuts too. So it chould be a good October. Hopefully a good sandeel November like last year.

Mkoloch i thinking about going down the 6th. Probably do a afternoon night on the beach.
