I met the guy who owns the parking lot there a few years ago- not sure if it's the same guy who lives on the other side of the trestle though.

Anyway, he seemed like a very nice person, in spite of the fact that he was ticked off that day about somebody leaving a pile of trash in the lot - which we hauled out when we left.

He knows it's the local kids that are trashing the place - and seems quite amicable to fishermen
