Fish pimp indicators falling off of your leader?

Has anyone else used the Fish Pimp (football shaped) indicators? If so, have they fallen off a lot?

I've been using them for the past couple of months, and they've fallen off of my leader a lot. I'm using the smallest ones (minis) and located along various points along my leader, so they should be fine. I've tried putting them on by either stretching the rubber tubing or by twisting the tubing -- but they come off regardless of which way I put them on my leader. I've also tried the next larger size of indicator, but they fall off just as often. Nothing I do in changing their location on my leader or how I put them on seems to help them stay on the leader.

I think that I'm going back to the Lightning Strike ones. I'm tired to chasing the Fish Pimp ones down the stream.
