

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Fish pimp indicators falling off of your leader?

Re: Fish pimp indicators falling off of your leader?

Author: : jerseygeorge

Date: : 2008/5/10 23:20:09

URL:

I have used Thill for a long time. They are the ones with the "toothpick". You never lose one. Most important for me is that I constantly change the depth. Sometimes every 5-6 casts. It is very easy with the Thill.

Downsides:

Yes, you will totally rig up and forget to slide one on.

The picks get waterlogged after 3-4 hours. An actual toothpick is not quite the correct size. Thill sent me about 100 when I e-mailed them for some.