I don't reply to post on here often but wow a Truck accident got you that fired up Beast? Come on that stuff happens and I for one do think it sucks but its one of those things that happens. Looks like a basic brine truck with just some salty water for the most part not enough to cause any major damage.

Nuclear yes it can be cleaner but what about the waste disposal? Remember you still need to mine for nuclear product it does not grow on trees so there is still damage to the environment from that.
