I can assure you that you are wrong on your explanation of marcellus drilling. Sure, if that was all going on then it would be bad for the commonwealth. Your explanation about drilling, fracing, air quality issues in Texas and Wyoming all come from the anti drilling web sites. They have all been debunked by science. Inaccurate and just plain bad science were used by anti drilling fanatics.

And, I personally spoke to both Pam Judy in Greene County and Paul Parker in Washington County concerning their issues and found no proof as to their complaints or issues. So please don't quote a biased article from some local reporter that doesn't understand the facts or the industry.
