

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Land Grabs By Fracking Companies

Re: Land Grabs By Fracking Companies

Author: : franklin

Date: : 2012/10/4 15:07:40

URL:

Quote:

troutbert wrote:

The article deals with a number of topics, but the main one is "forced pooling" where the landowners do own the mineral rights. But the answer "no" is not an option.

I can understand forced pooling but I would have thought a landowner who was forced in would be compensated. A lot of the other items seem to be contract related. My suggestion there is to have a good lawyer. (Yes I do value lawyers! 😊)