For a quick trip, there are a couple of jetties towards the northern end of the boardwalk in ac. Just be careful, these can be dangerous and I would definitely recommend wearing some type of studs/korkers if you decide to fish from the rocks. The beaches in Brigantine are nice too...and a little bit less developed the further north you go.

I've never had much luck down this way; but I have a friend who lives there, and has been doing well this past week from both the beach and the bay.
