Forced pooling is not here in PA yet, but it is being discussed. I am not sure but if a landowner is force pooled they will get paid for the royalties, not sure about anything else.

Here in PA, an Exploration and Production Company cannot produce gas under any property without having the oil and gas lease.

Finally, lets get the terminology straight,

Exploration and Production Company (Oil & Gas Co.), applies for permit, is the owner/operator of record in PA. Chevron, Range, Chesapeake

Drilling Company, contracted by E & P Co., actually drills the wells. Precision Drilling, Falcon Drilling, Patterson Drilling.

And finally, my favorite, Cementing/Hydraulic Fracturing companies, Halliburton, BJ, Universal Well Services, FracTec,

This is by no means a complete list and there are many, many more contractors that do work for the E & P companies.

This is all in response to the OP's title of this thread.

This is a good "pecking order" list and informative post. Thanks Gudgeonville.

Its always good to know EXACTLY who we are hating on.
