that's ok- it has has been the best kept secret in the poconos for years- time to share- it's not like I fish there everyday.

you can park on rte 115 and access at the bridge or park on the caughtbaugh rd. property owner on the caughtbaugh rd does not care if you cross the property to the river, but the landowners on the other side of rte 115 are on the look out for trespassers. the lehigh is a navigable river so it is legal to be there. stay under the ordinary high water mark and down by the falls there is exposed river rock bed to walk on which is way below the ordinary high water mark.

unbelievable how many fish are there. on opening day a buddy caught 15 good size bass and trout in less than an hour- catch and released.
