Most trout and panfish guys see them as vile almost borderline evil.

Funny you mention that...

When I caught my first (and only) one of these fish earlier this year, some of the local panfish guys suggested that I should have "tossed it in the woods for rocky racoon." I suppose I can understand the frustration, but these fish deserve more credit.

I haven't gotten to read the plan yet; but hopefully I can contribute something worthwhile despite my limited fishing catching experience.
