I want to go to Montauk, very badly. Just trying to see if the stories of over crowded conditions, absolute need to combat fish in rough surf, rock crawling, etc...Seems as though a few of the stories/reports are of needing expensive gear, falling of rocks, etc...don't seem worth it. My question (one of), and I think I already know the answer, can you find relaxed to moderate relax fishing conditions along a semi-rocky beach without the need to risk life & limb with a $700 VS, $500 dry top and wetsuit?

I have tentative plans to visit in the Spring, when I hear crowds are less. This would be used as a scouting trip for the following Fall. Organize things such as lodging, necessary equipment, get the lay of the land, etc...

I would be very interested if anyone had plans for a trip with extra room to let a newbie tag along.
