
Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : October 5, 2012 - Chesapeake Energy pleaded guilty in federal court today...

October 5, 2012 - Chesapeake Energy pleaded guilty in federal court today...

Author: : irishlax7

Date: : 2012/10/13 16:38:04

URL:

October 5, 2012 - Chesapeake Energy pleaded guilty in federal court today to 3 violations of the Clean Water Act, admitting it had dumped 60 tons of crushed stone and gravel into the Blake Fork stream on three different occasions in 2008. Contractors hired by Chesapeake discharged gravel from dump trucks into Blake Fork when developing access roads to a natural gas drilling site in Wetzel County. Each violation carries a $200,000 fine, so Chesapeake will pay a total of $600,000. The company will also be placed on probation and supervised by the court for two years.

Attach file:

 Blake-Run-Falls_before.jpg (89.48 KB)

