Steve,

While I read stream reports, I usually rely mostly on the USGS site for up-to-date stream conditions to pick where to fish. It gives you exactly the info you mentioned ("Water Level, Water Clarity, Water FLOW may be some temps") all in real time.

As a matter of fact, I take the opposite approach; when I read a glowing stream report about someone catchin' a bunch of slammer fish on a certain stream, I usually AVOID fishing there. Here is the USGS site.

Good luck.
