It's stocked both above and below the lake, but I think it's only stocked below in the fall. I have never fished it in the fall though..

In the spring I have caught some trout by the footbridge in the park below the dam, so that would be a good place to start. I'm not sure if it's stocked farther down or not.

Directly below the dam down maybe 20 yards or so to a concrete thingy you have a chance at hooking up with a bunch of species, and I'm sure some trout. I've caught eyes, smb, crappie, perch, gills, different sunfish, and a musky. There's a lot of fish in there, but most run kinda small, and they are very picky because the place gets a LOT of pressure.
