

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : 7'6 Rod

Re: 7'6 Rod

Author: : delta_dog

Date: : 2012/10/23 13:40:31

URL:

I'm relatively new to small stream fishing but not to fundamental fly fishing. Whether your fishing small stream,large streams,rivers or lakes use what works for you and what your comfortable with not what the industry says you should use. For example I take a completely different approach when fishing small streams. I use a 6' or 7' 2wt rod UNDERLINED with 1wt line and have never had any problems presenting flies whether it be a micro bugger,dry dropper or a straight dry. It works for me so that's what I use. In Staggers case he is better off casting as many rods,reel and line combos as he can to see what he likes but knowing him and spending a few sessions with him working on his casting. He needs a REALLY fast rod to match his casting stroke.