Ryan, your "vision" is the reason Dave Kile started this entire web site and the reason he continues to maintain a Stream Report page as well as the reason he want threads in this section to be actually useful as a stream report. That said, I'll be moving this to the General Forum shortly.

Incidentally, I agree that the reason there are not more good reports is because those of us who would take the time to share information are not interested in hearing all the bellyaching when we happen to report on someone else's pet stream.
