

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : 7'6 Rod

Re: 7'6 Rod

Author: : geebee

Date: : 2012/10/25 19:10:40

URL:

i have two trout rods - a 9ft 5wt that i use for big streams and streamer fishing and nymphing.

I also have a new bamboo 7ft 4wt now, which is going to be for dry fly fishing and small brooks.

the 9ft 5wt is just fine for both on small brooks - the long rod actually helps keep line off the water for short casts.

so i'd say that if you want to fish light or want to fish dry flies more then go for it.

i'd second the votes for Redington and Echo rods, and would add Greys to that list (made by Hardy).

check out flystorecloseouts they usually have some good deals.

i too would go for a slower action rod - hence the bamboo ;)