

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : Codorus Creek fly

Codorus Creek fly

Author: : laszlo

Date: : 2012/10/28 7:32:24

URL:

I fished Codorus Creek yesterday afternoon. Thought I'd get out before the big storm hits tomorrow and stir things up.

I noticed the last few times I've been on the stream I see alot of trout rising to something invisible. There are no hatches, and the fish seem to be sipping something very small. I've caught a few using a small caddis but this fly is much smaller. Anyone seeing this on other streams? Any thoughts as to what they are feeding on?