Im not so sure about that. I fish their conventional gear and like it just fine. I also have a helios reel for one of my FF outfits. Also never had a problem with it. I think that slv is supposed to be pretty good for the money.

Does it matter if you have the drag set very low to begin with? I only ever adjust my drag off of "minimal" before I know I might be into a big fish(carp, steelhead). I have my reels set to the point where me stripping line off doesnt cause the line to overspool. Other than that, I dont use the drag system to play fish.
