I don't know if under-reporting contaminants is a jailable offense, but it's fun to think that Jerry Sandusky might get a new cell mate. What I found surprising is the DEP official's tone -- he was outright dismissive and condescending to the elected Washington County official, and this seems unprofessional behavior for someone in a public service job. My friend works for the local school district and gets bizarre complaints regularly, but he's very careful to reply professionally, even to the chronic cases.
