

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : Hatches and good flies for white clay creek

Re: Hatches and good flies for white clay creek

Author: : Paulson

Date: : 2012/11/18 12:26:36

URL:

I would agree with above. The best hatch chart for White Clay Middle Branch usually comes from A Sporting Gentleman fly shop website. It has not been updated since late October I believe.

Maybe if the fish start getting used to the warmer winters we seem to be having, the BWO hatches might start to catch on. Early January to March last year there was incredible BWO hatches, but nothing rising for them. Same with this September. Then again it is a stocked stream with little hold over, and gets poached.