Used to always wear cheapos that we bought at a store name Katches in Mt. Carmel.....we called them Carmies after one of the old guys in town....they were huge and thick with a yellow lense & they worked great.....since then I have tried expensive Cabelas glasses, they were returned.....bought a few at Walmart with a red mirror lense.....I bought a pair of Nikon's 2 years ago and I still have them.....I usually lose them, which is why I like cheaper....bought them on ebay for like 12 bucks.....Go to ebay and type in Nikon polarized sunglasses.....

I once owned a pair of Oakley polarized glasses, but broke them in 3 places while Mt. Biking riding in the coal region.....I don't know what hurt more.....my body or the fact that I just ruined a 160 dollar pair of sunglasses.....also had a pair of Oakley polarized glasses stolen while I was in college.....I was working in the library and put them in a drawer.....somebody snatched them....worked with a few SUSPECT type people.....but nobody ever fessed to it.....they were Yellow, who the hell steals yellow sunglasses????
