Just returned from the Lehigh River after a nice float with one of my buddies. We started at Glen Onyko and floated to Lehighton. Fishing was brisk seeing that the air temp was 27 at 9am. Basically fished streamers and stopped to nymph a few spots along the way. My friend bnged a nice 18" brown on a white streamer in the first hour, however he lost it at the boat. Fished for several more hours with no suces, untill we stopped at one of our go to holes just up from the take out. Baged 2 more nice rainbows 14-16" on white again, however as with the brown he lost them after a brief fight. All in all we exceeded our expectations for the day. However it was really nice to see that some fish remain in the river! All in all I would say if you are local and it's a nice day, the lehigh is still a decent option. Tightlines and Happy Holidays Everyone!
