

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Late fall/winter tailwater toothies?

Re: Late fall/winter tailwater toothies?

Author: : streamerguy

Date: : 2012/11/23 18:26:31

URL:

Yeah, one of them is a trib to the river. I'm pretty sure you can guess which one. The other ones aren't, but still in the NW part of the state and have trout.

I've never caught or seen a muskie there(I know they're there), although I have caught one in each of the other tailwaters. Not on fly gear though or in the winter.