
Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Toothy Critter Success Thread

Re: Toothy Critter Success Thread

Author: : Phish_On

Date: : 2012/11/25 1:54:57

URL:

This thread is a great inspiration for me. I have targeted muskies a couple of times. Started tying flies for them and have yet to get out and try them. The one I did hook, broke off. Mainly because I was using a smallmouth leader. Never expected to actually hook into one. And she was the better part of 30". It haunts my dreams. But this thread keeps me pumped to go out there and show up my spin fishing friends. With catching one bigger than the ones they catch with their spin gear.