I also liked the bass shows where they showed number of casts to what they caught. I know it had nothing to do with Flyfishing. But seeing their ratios taught me that my fishing was actually pretty good and helped build my confidence. Also, I went from spending a full day on the lake or river to 6 hours or less after watching Mike Ik. If I didn't catch anything It was not meant to be.

How many of us have evolved from catch and eat to catch and release because of Fishy TV programs?
