+1 to what Jack and Fox said. I would add that if you reference Dwight's book you find it easier to locate streams that are fairly close. I'd say the Poconos are within your 75 mile range, from Newtown. So is Berks County.

The Natural reproduction list is also very helpful. If you want to make a trip I can meet you somewhere and put you on some very good streams. You're about an hour south of me, but we can do it. Anyway, there's so many brookie streams 75 miles from Newtown it will take a while to fish them.
