Stag,

The maps you are asking about are good baseline maps. I have them and like them. The state has free maps also that have about the same info but the ones you are asking about are better in my opinion.

Like I said these maps are a good start but there is so much more info out there on the internet that is free.

As Jack says starting with the Class A list is the way to go. The streams on that report are on the maps you are asking about. Then you go explore.
