

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Toothy Critter Success Thread

Re: Toothy Critter Success Thread

Author: : zfisher

Date: : 2012/11/28 15:04:40

URL:

TD55, and everyone else, thanks for the advice. If i can find 3/0 hooks that will fit in my vice, I will tie on them. I'm heading to a shop this afternoon to see if i can find thinner ones, and if I can't, I'll order some online.

some more questions, I'm a little confused about the leader and tippet thing, do I need a wire leader or not? And if so, what lb. test should it be? The tippet I'm guessing would be wire or strong mono? I read that the wire deters other fish like the smallies and walleye which I would prefer to catch. I also think I read somewhere that you could use like 80 lb. mono, but also read something about using 25 lb. mono so the line would snap before the rod.

Thanks in advance