I grew up near Pittsburgh and was out there in the Spring. Try the class A's in the Laurel Highlands. Hell Run is rather isolated so if you have no luck, there isn't much option for trying an alternative. There is a large group of streams in the Laurel highlands.

I'm working on the 2013 updates and should have the equivalent of the PGC county guide maps with all the stream lines in the phone apps which should help this year.

I use the app in the field all the time and keep trying to make it better for me as well as my customers.
