

---

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Flies/info for west coast florida????

Re: Flies/info for west coast florida????

Author: : bikerfish

Date: : 2012/12/1 18:43:18

URL:

didn't see any gators or snakes. caught some mullet, saw some reds tailing but spooked em. saw some trout also, but same thing, they saw me way before I could get a cast to them. definitely going back, cedar key is the best place I've ever been in FL. Absolutely NO chain or franchise establishments, everything is mom and pop. tons of water there to learn. went up in a plane and saw tons of fish, (and also saw how isolated this place really is!) but when your back on the ground trying to chase them around in a kayak, it's a different story! next year I'll be better prepared, but for my first time flyfishing in the salt, I had a blast, and the scenery was second to none. The amount of wildlife is astounding. I've been all over florida and the keys, and I'll take the laid back atmosphere of this place over the rest of it combined. cedar key must be what Key West was like 100 years ago. I think they may have 900 citizens, and there might have been a couple dozen tourists, needless to say, you got to know most folks by the second day. I'll be back down there next year for sure. oh yeah, the beer was cheap the seafood wasn't bad either 😊