

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : little lehigh Dec 9th 2012

Re: little lehigh Dec 9th 2012

Author: : PhilC

Date: : 2012/12/11 9:53:58

URL:

I was just there last weekend only for an hour or so. I know what palo you're talking about...I think I caught the same one about a month or so ago, they were really hot on eggs then and that fish already had some elses fly in its lip.

I assumed all the fish came from the hatchery on the stream either escapees or swam into heritage from other areas. Still good numbers but usually spot more hogs swimming around. Still finding little wild browns in crappy lies being nudged out by the stockies...