Does using a tippet ring make casting more difficult on a typical 10 or 12 foot trout leader? What size and brand of TR's do you guys use? Where do you buy them?

fwiw, I tie a perfection loop at the end of my leader and then tie my tippet and also dropper tag to the loop using clinch knots.

To answer question number one, No, you won't even notice the tippet ring when casting. Number two, I used to use Roman Moser's size 4's but can't find them anymore so now I use Climax rings. They are the same size as Roman's. I tie the leader to the ring with a clinch knot and then another clinch knot for the tippet. Real simple and works great.
