That shop floods at every high water event,they move the inventory way before the water gets there.

Sorry to hear that fish got stranded by Sandy,I guess the Herons are happy.

The LL has been going downhill for the last several years.Between the silt and the sewage overflow it is slowly dying.I have fished it for 60+ years and have seen what was once a premier trout stream fade away.Sadly I rarely fish it these days but walk it often with my dog.
