I watched a gent up at Salmon River doing this....I was wonder what was going on. I did not see him get any stealheads though so it did not really get me to try the technique with my 10Wt.

Thanks guys, now I have a better understanding of this style of fishing. I am sure I will focus on it better next time I'm up there....before the end of the year I hope.

Any certain patterns work better than others? I was thinking of trying my small brown mouse.
