

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : Tippet rings

Re: Tippet rings

Author: : podflyguy

Date: : 2012/12/21 18:33:47

URL:

I started tying my own leaders about 2 years ago and have used tippet rings a couple of times. After tying thousands of knots using leader calc I simplified things to some modified Harvey formulas. The only problem is that his lightest formulas call for 2x and 4x tippet for nymphs and dries respectively. If I wanted to use his formulas for say a 6 or 7x tippet, what would be the best way to incorporate a tippet ring without adding a ton of length to the leader? Would the leader still turn over if I simply tied in a ring and then a few feet of light tippet? It seems like it should still be tapered down accordingly...any help would be appreciated.